

Bruce Wark | Senior Vice President and Deputy General Counsel

Bruce Wark is Senior Vice President and Deputy General Counsel where he oversees legal counsel in the areas of antitrust, intellectual property and litigation. Previously, Bruce served as Vice President and Deputy General Counsel.

He has worked for the airline since 1993. During that time, Bruce has handled a broad range of litigation and regulatory matters, including those relating to the merger of American Airlines and US Airways, airport access, airport rates and charges, aviation disasters, patent and trade secret litigation, and, most recently, successful lawsuits against Sabre, and the defense of the Northeast Alliance. He has also handled reservations system and global distribution system practices, international competition, airline alliances and antitrust and consumer class actions.

He has served on the governing board for the American Bar Association's Forum on Air and Space Law and has written several articles relating to legal issues affecting the airline industry. In 2014, he won the Association of Corporate General Counsel award for Bottom Line Impact for having a substantial effect on the financial success of his employer. The same year, he won the Magna Stella award for Associate General Counsel of the Year, and in 2023, he was awarded Senior Counsel of the Year for a Large Legal Department by the Association of Corporate Counsel DFW Chapter.

Bruce received his Juris Doctor, with honors, from Georgetown University in 1986.
